Army Family Team Building (AFTB)

AFTB is an educational program which provides training that prepares everyone in America's Army to function at the highest level, given any situation. The training improves personal and family preparedness, which enhances overall Army readiness. AFTB is a series of classes for (and taught by) military spouses and soldiers designed to give you the tools to survive in the military lifestyle. Learn about community resources, military terms, benefits, leadership skills and more.
